Art and physical education are usually thought of as different domains, but integrating them can be of much benefit to children. For kids reluctant to learn about art, using physical activity will have them jumping at the chance; for kids who prefer not to participate in gym class, the artistic components of your lessons will keep them engaged and active. Art and craft supplies and physical education equipment are essential components of the well-rounded primary school experience. On Time Supplies is the only art and craft store you need, offering thousands of art class staples such as paper craft supplies. We also carry a variety of equipment and kids play sets for physical education games, including gymnasium sets.
