The course is designed to provide students with insights into the complex environment that organizations of any size operate. Organizational leaders' and organizational members' responsibility to use ethical thinking to balance stakeholder interests with organizational duty are examined. According to the settled law, the relevant question is whether the parties intended to be co – owners of a for-profit business, not whether they intended to form a relationship known as a “partnership.” See Byker v. Mannes, 641 N.W.2d 210 (Mich. 2002) (explaining that, if the parties “associated to ‘carry on’ as co-owners a business for profit, they will be deemed to have formed a ... All employees and applicants for employment should receive fair and equitable treatment in all aspects of personnel management without regard to political affiliation, race, color, religion, national origin, sex, marital status, age, or handicapping condition, and with proper regard for their privacy and constitutional rights. At its most basic the rule of law is the concept that the law applies to everyone equally. This can be seen in The Institute's rule of law principles. - Business Law: Principles & Cases
