Connections is an online community drawn exclusively from Metropolitan Museum of Art curators, conservators, educators, and many others who offer their personal perspectives on works of art in The Metropolitan Museum of Art's vast collection. Connections inspires fresh ways to approach art. I too hear voices and I have always wanted to find out about the experiences of others who hear them, (i.e. exactly what do others voices say to them, or sound like) I have been hearing voices since 2002, I was 31 yrs old then. The same holds true for organizational policies and procedures. Nurses who understand how and where to report concerns, especially how to access the chain of command when they don't receive an acceptable response, will be most effective in achieving positive outcomes for their patients. In computer science, communicating sequential processes (CSP) is a formal language for describing patterns of interaction in concurrent systems. It is a member of the family of mathematical theories of concurrency known as process algebras, or process calculi, based on message passing via channels. CSP was highly influential in the design of the occam programming language, and also influenced ... - Communicating From The Inside Out
