Amber Alert is a joint project of Charlottetown Police Services, other Police Services on Prince Edward Island, RCMP and the media. It is a voluntary, cooperative program that sends an emergency alert to the public when a child has been abducted and it is believed that his/her life is in grave danger. A: We do not know how long young children can go without seeing either parent, how many transitions children can handle, or how long children should stay in each household. We do know that children can get attached to caregivers when they have good relationships that are consistent over time. In many instances, it may make sense for infants and toddlers to be able to see each parent regularly ...Inpatient Services.
