Food #1 Baiyoke Street Food. At late night, if you want Street Food, you still can find lots of it in Pratunam, hidden behind Baiyoke area. If you are familiar, it is on the road leading to Citin Pratunam Hotel. The Food Trust, in partnership with Get Healthy Philly, operates 22 farmers markets in Philadelphia, including Clark Park Farmers Market, Philly's oldest year-round market, and Headhouse Farmers Market, the city's largest outdoor market. Many of The Food Trust's farmers markets are located in neighborhoods that otherwise lack access to healthy foods; these markets accept SNAP (food stamp ... Updated: 1 November 2018. One of the "Must-Go" in Bangkok is definitely to visit Night Markets (Shopping) as listed in my 15 Must-Go & Do in Bangkok. The energy and vibe of night markets in Bangkok is just so different and you really got to experience it for yourself! The great thing about shopping in Bangkok is that most malls and department stores stay open until at least 21:00 - and some even as late as 22:00. So there's plenty of time to make the most of the city's attractions during the day, and fit in a bit of retail therapy either before or after dinner. - Night Markets : Bringing Food To The City
